Mission Statement

The German American Trade Association (GATA) is a not-for-profit organization which was formed in 2003 upon the initiative of the leading German industry associations. The organization promotes business activities of German-speaking companies in the U.S. by way of offering selected enterprises with suitable products an affordable sales and marketing platform in America. In cooperation with its wholly-owned distribution company, Coperion Corporation of North America Inc, GATA provides a one-stop-shop solution that enables companies to be active in the U.S. market within a 6-months time frame and at substantially reduced cost. GATA is also engaged in corporate risk management. In order to protect German-speaking companies from lawsuits and liability in the U.S., GATA invites selected members of senior management to its bi-annual Executive Management Meetings. These meetings take place in New York City and Germany and provide up-to-date information on corporate risk management issues. Product liability protection, insurance, corporate governance, transfer pricing and contractual risk management are among the topics covered. The Meeting is conducted in English, and communication among the executives and speakers is carried out on a first name basis. Further information is available on our website: www.american-trade.org.

Highly Qualified Speakers

Speakers are U.S.-resident professionals of the highest caliber, with extensive-practical experience in cross-border transactions. During the breaks, presenters will be available for informal question-and-answer sessions.

Evening Program

The optional evening program features two classic New York City highlights that are among the best the city has to offer. During all previous EMMs, participants greatly enjoyed themselves and provided the most positive feed-back. It is a good occasion for networking and spouses, partners and friends are invited to attend on both nights.

Dress Code

Throughout the Meeting, the dress code is formal business attire, while for the optional evening program, the dress code is business casual. During the cocktail reception on Day 2, jackets are recommended for men, with similarly appropriate attire for women. For the Manhattan dinner cruise on Day 1, similar attire is recommended.

Registration

Registrations can be made on our website (www.american-trade.org) or be submitted informally by Email and addressed to admin@american-trade.org. Please note that space is limited and that the four previous events were all booked-out. To ensure your reservation, we recommend that you transfer the seminar fee shortly after you have sent us your registration request. In the event of overbooking, we will consider the registrations in the order of the date of payment received.

Fees, Admin, Charges

The fee for the Executive Management Meeting is €2,100 per registrant, which includes all seminar-related services and course materials as well as lunch at The Capital Grill on Day 2. The optional evening program is not included. Please indicate if you wish to take part in the dinner cruise on Day 1, in which case we will add €150 to the seminar invoice. This fee includes transportation to the pier, a prix-fix meal on the boat, along with alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages. The entire invoice will be sent to you in electronic format. Please let us know in advance the names of any guests you would like to bring with you. The invoiced fee may be transferred to the German American Trade Association's German account at
